

The Burj Al Arab is a luxury hotel located in Dubai, United Arab Emirates. It is one of the most iconic landmarks in the world, famous for its sail-shaped design. Opened in 1999, the hotel has become a symbol of Dubai's rapid development and architectural ambition.

Standing at 321 meters (1,053 ft), the Burj Al Arab is among the tallest hotels in the world. It is built on an artificial island 280 meters off the coast and connected to the mainland by a private bridge. Known for its lavish interiors, it is often referred to as the world's first "seven-star hotel," although this rating is unofficial.

The Burj Al Arab is not only a hotel but also a global tourist attraction that draws visitors from around the world. It features world-class restaurants such as "Al Mahara," which offers an underwater dining experience, as well as royal suites and exclusive luxury facilities. The hotel represents Dubai's transformation into a global hub for tourism and innovation.
